PREFACE

The Utah Bar Foundation is pleased to be able to provide this important historical document containing biographies of each of the justices of the Utah Supreme Court, from January 4, 1896, when the Court officially came into being, through the present time.

This work is possible because of the generous contribution of Cal Behle, a former president of the Foundation Board of Trustees. Mr. Behle served on the Foundation Board for many years and is largely responsible for the vision and growth of the Foundation.

The Foundation also wishes to acknowledge and thank the authors of this publication, two young lawyers, James E. Magleby and John M. Peterson. They carefully researched information regarding the justices, ably recorded the results of their research, and managed to include vignettes that provide insight into the character and personalities of the justices.

Trustees of the Utah Bar Foundation Board during the development of this publication include the following: James B. Lee (president, 1995-6), Jane A. Marguardt (president, 1996-7), Stewart M. Hanson, Jr., Hon. Pamela T. Greenwood, Carman E. Kipp, Joanne C. Slotnik, H. James Clegg, and Hon. James Z. Davis. The project was completed by a committee consisting of Carman E. Kipp and Judge Greenwood.

Our thanks also to Quality Press for their assistance in publishing this book, to Leslie Miller of Print Works, for her wonderful graphics, and to Don Busath for the photograph of the Supreme Court courtroom located in the Utah State Capitol. The Utah Supreme Court will change its location in 1998 to the Scott M. Matheson Courthouse, ending its historic home in the Capitol. It is especially gratifying to be able to provide this publication prior to that relocation and to memorialize those justices who sat in the Capitol Supreme Court courtroom.
